2023 FARMER OF THE YEAR

The WEEKLY TIMES coles

Gundagai Lamb would like to congratulate Isabele Roberts and the entire Roberts family at Ridgehaven Poll Dorsets on being named Sheep Farmer of the Year!

The Farmer of the Year program, run by The Weekly Times and Coles, has been supporting and recognising Australia's farmers and rural communities for over a decade. We couldn't be more thrilled that Ridgehaven has been recognised in this prestigious program.

Ridgehaven have been involved with Gundagai Lamb since the very beginning, continuously using the feedback provided to produce better and better animals, each and every year.

We are proud to work with innovative, passionate producers in delivering healthier, tastier and more sustainable lamb.

Sheep Farmer of the Year!

Our business has been recognised for our innovative, customer-focused approach to breeding ram genetics for the prime lamb industry.

Ridgehaven Poll Dorsets is focused on producing commercially relevant rams, providing clients with genetics to drive their production systems in a profitable and sustainable way.

Our partnerships in research programs University of New England (AU) and University of Sydney have been vital in our drive for greater understanding of genetics.

Gundagai Lamb have enabled us to validate the merit of our genetics on a commercial level, and supported our efforts to expand knowledge of production systems and how to deliver premium outcomes.

Our ability to impact many other businesses with the genetics we produce is exciting!

We love the lamb industry, the people in it, and the way we can all work together to achieve more.

Thanks to The Weekly Times and Coles Group for your ongoing support for the agricultural industry

- Isabele Roberts

Once again, congratulations to the entire team at Ridgehaven!
